THE COMMANDMENTS OF LOVE

Familiarity with Jesus' answer to the question about the greatest commandment blunts our awareness of its startling directness. Answers could be given, singling out one of the ten commandments as the greatest, the most important basis of society. A frequent answer to the question was and is the Golden Rule, existing in many cultures: 'Do not do to another what you would not have done to you'. This is basically a selfish answer, protecting my own interests. By contrast, Jesus' answer slams home, turning away from self to God. 'Love', not 'obey' or 'adore' or 'fear' or 'reverence'. Love is not the warmth of companionship or of sex, but is the willing generosity of mother to helpless young child or daughter to helpless old parent, of wife to alcoholic husband or husband to paralysed wife, seeking no reward but the happiness of the receiver. Paul gives a useful check-list in First Corinthians 13. The First Letter of John gives a shorter checklist: 'No one who fails to love the brother or sister whom he can see, can love God whom he has not seen'. The real interests of the recipient of love may not always be easy to find, but the spirit of giving is unmistakable.

I farisei vivevano per meditare la legge, per capirla, per interpretarla. Alcuni sono riusciti a capire Gesù Cristo che ha detto a uno di loro che non era lontano dal regno dei cieli (Mc 12,34). E un altro fariseo, Paolo di Tarso, riuscì ad essere l'apostolo dei gentili. Ma tanti tra di loro, al contrario, rifiutavano il giovane Rabbi di Nazaret, e lo hanno messo a morte sulla croce... Interpretando la legge, i farisei ottenevano una casistica minuziosa che rendeva il giogo della legge insopportabile.

Ed è per questo che non potevano capire Gesù che, secondo loro, infrangeva il riposo del sabato guarendo i malati il sabato, e anche dicendo che il Figlio dell'uomo era padrone del sabato e che questo giorno, così importante, era stato fatto per l'uomo, e non il contrario... (Mt 12,8; Mc 2,27).

Gesù disfa il repertorio molto complicato dei precetti, e lo riassume nell'amore di Dio e del prossimo sopra tutto. Egli considera che questo è il primo comandamento, da cui tutti gli altri derivano... Di fronte a queste parole non possiamo fare altro che rivedere la nostra condotta, riconoscere i nostri errori e proporci in modo concreto di vivere per amore, di morire per amore.

"Lord, help me to live this day, quietly, easily. To lean upon Thy great strength, trustfully, restfully. To wait for the unfolding of Thy will, patiently, serenely. To meet others, peacefully, joyously. To face tomorrow, confidently, courageously" ~ St. Francis of Assisi~

30TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME – OCTOBER 29TH, 2023

Dear Friends in Christ, last week the universal Church celebrated World Mission Sunday, which falls on the second to last Sunday in October. World Mission Sunday is the feast of our catholicity and universal solidarity, and it serves as a reminder of our common responsibility concerning the evangelization of the world.

World Mission Sunday gives us a wonderful opportunity to show love and solidarity to all our brothers and sisters united in faith throughout the world. In offering our prayers, we become one in communion with all the missionaries everywhere, who work tirelessly in spreading the Good News to far distant lands. In offering our financial resources, we respond to Christ's call to feed the hungry, give drink to the thirsty, and clothe the naked. Funds collected are used to help support churches, hospitals, schools and vocations in various countries where the Church is either new, recently formed or lacking in financial resources. As Pope St. John Paul II once reminded us, "World Mission Day, which seeks to heighten awareness of the missions, as well as to collect funds for them, is an important date in the life of the Church, because it teaches how to give: as an offering made to God, in the Eucharistic celebration and for all the missions of the world" (Redemptoris Missio, 81). On our parish's part, a total of $1,822.90 was collected for this year's campaign. Thank you for your generosity!

This year, the Lord gave me an extra-ordinary opportunity to experience World Mission Sunday from a different vantage point. It did not occur from my presider's chair at St. Lawrence Martyr Parish in Scarborough, Ontario; but as a guest priest making a retreat in a convent run by the Bridgettine Sisters of Trondheim in Norway.

In many ways, Trondheim is a perfect example of the kind of place that Pope Pius XI had in mind, when he instituted World Mission Sunday in 1926. Although the city is only one hour away from the capital city of Oslo by flight, it is merely deemed the seat of the Roman Catholic Territorial Prelature. It is currently under the leadership of a rather interesting figure - Bishop Erik Varden - a former Cambridge University professor turned Trappist monk. Its region, which spans more than 56, 458 km (its size, to put it in context, is larger than the entire country of Denmark) has a total of 696,914 inhabitants. From a faith's perspective, Roman Catholics only make up less than two percent of its total population, and they are able to worship in one of the five parishes that are scattered throughout the city (cf. Wikipedia). In short, one could say that Trondheim is a real missionary region!

Despite these rather abysmal statistics, what I noticed, while concelebrating Mass that Sunday morning, was the remarkable universality of our Catholic Church. There in the Sister's chapel, which had a maximum capacity of approximately fifty worshippers, were faithful from all over the world: clergymen from Canada, Germany and Poland; religious sisters from Indonesia, Mexico, Italy, and India; and lay faithful from Vietnam, Africa and the surrounding regions. There in that little convent chapel, located in the largely unknown, unheard city of Trondheim, were gathered people from all the far corners of the world, giving God praise and glory through Jesus Christ, our Lord. What a powerful reminder of how diversity in races can be united in prayer! Indeed, what a remarkable sight to behold!

As I reflect upon this recent, profound experience, I cannot help but think of the words that comes from St. Mary Elizabeth Hesselblad (the Foundress of the Bridgettine Sisters; d. 24 April 1957), who said: "The Lord has called us from different nations, but we must be united with one heart and one soul. In the divine Heart of Jesus, we will always meet one another and there we seek our strength to face the difficulties of life. May we be strengthened to practice the beautiful virtues of charity, humility and patience." Although World Mission Sunday has passed once again, with many of us having made contributions to help our needy brothers and sisters, who live in various missionary lands, let us nevertheless continue to practice our catholicity and remain in solidarity with them, by keeping them close to our hearts and in our prayers. Pax Christi, 7n. Thomas

Securities as a Charitable Gift Option

A gift of securities (stocks, bonds, mutual funds) is still one of the most financially sound ways to support the Archdiocese of Toronto.

When you donate stocks, mutual funds and other publicly traded securities to a registered charity, you pay no capital gains tax and receive a tax receipt for the full amount of the gift. It means a great tax break for you and more significant support of your Parish and various archdiocesan charities such as ShareLife, St. Augustine's Seminary, The Shepherds' Trust and many others.

To donate securities, follow this link: Archdiocese of Toronto - Gift of Securities (archtoronto.org) to download the How to Gift Securities Info Sheet and the Letter of Direction.

How does a person become a saint? Saint Alphonsus Liguori challenged those who entered the Redemptorists saying, "Don't become a Redemptorist unless you want to be a saint." I would widen his expression to say, "Don't get baptized unless you want to be a saint." To be a saint means that you want to go to heaven. Most people are not canonized, but anyone who leads a holy life is a member of the communion of saints. This mystical body spans heaven, earth, and purgatory. As St. Paul said, "We are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses" (Hebrews 12:1).

Technically speaking, to be canonized, that is, given the title of "saint" by the Church, a person's life should serve as a model for others, and two miracles must be attributed to his or her intercession. The formal process begins after death with the creation of the person's "cause," often with the leadership of local clergy.

The beatitudes offer us a blueprint for holiness. If we are poor in spirit, mourning, meek, hungry for righteousness, merciful, pure, peacemakers, or persecuted for doing what is right, we are on the road to sainthood. Reflect on one of the beatitudes. It can be one you do well or one that challenges you. Discern how you live it out and how you could live it out better. Slowly you will find yourself growing holier, and one day you will find yourself a saint in heaven.
